foches are being framed in accordance with the instructions of the supreme council for speedy action by the conference, and it is expected all reports will be completed by the end of the week. The commissioners have been told that when they could not agree they should submit the reports of various viewpoints, leaving it to the council to make a decision.

The American members, it is reported, have been coldly judicial and without enthusiasm in their criticisms from partisan claimants almost daily.

An investigation of German atrocities has been undertaken against the new state of Czechoslovakia, as soon as documentary evidence is received, was decided upon at the meeting of the supreme council today.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

The official statement issued after the meeting reads:

The supreme council considered communications from the armistice commission regarding the situation in Poland, and the request of the Czechoslovak republic concerning German-Austrian and Hungarian intrigues against the new state, the council considered the reports and decided to investigate them as soon as documentary evidence is received.

The council then discussed the conditions under which the powers with special interests and the states allied with the Allies would participate in the discussions with the great powers respecting their frontiers.

The Peace Conference Commission on International Labor Legislation today heard statements by various delegations on the result of the negotiations of the International Labor Organization with employers and organizations of working people in their respective countries. The commission discussed the final stage of the drafting of the draft of the international labor convention submitted by the British delegation, Samuel Gompers, director of the commission, presided at the meeting.

KAISER'S FATE.

It will be the fate of former Emperor William to be branded for all time as an archimimical by the solemn declaration of all the nations assembled at the Peace Conference, he called upon to subscribe in the present plan of what is believed to be a majority of the commissioners on Reichenau for the War.

The report of this commission will be ready within a few days, and it is indicated that the members are harmonious on the main points. There are likely to be differences.

premiers, on the other hand, are providing an effective executive organization for the rapid discharge of business. This facility insures the drafting of the peace within the limit fixed, a week from next Thursday.

TO RUSH WORK.

The programme of the work for the Supreme Council for this week announced today indicates that an effort will be made to bring about a speedy conclusion of important negotiations to be undertaken.

Today the council will take on the contentious of the Czechoslovak government that there is a German-Austrian-Hungarian plot against Czechoslovakia. It also will consider the eastern boundary of Germany.

On Wednesday the final military and air terms of the peace from the northern boundary of Germany will be considered. The western boundary of Germany will be considered Friday, and financial arrangements with Germany Saturday.

The Supreme Council today closed the question of the representation of the small nations in the peace and financial commissions by making the following appointments:

Economic commission—Representatives of Belgium, Brazil, China, Poland, Portugal, Romania and Serbia.

Financial commission—Representatives of Argentina, Greece, Serbia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Austria and one country to be named.

AUSTRIA'S FUTURE.

While the possible neutralization of Austria has not yet come before the "Big Five" in a formal manner, the discussion of the Habsburgs has been discussed here. Central Socialistic elements in Austria are striving hard to prevent neutralization, but there are other influences which are equally strong, and it is felt that it would give Austria protection similar to that enjoyed by Switzerland.

German influence is endeavoring to effect a division of Austria so that the German section may be annexed. Many of the members of the Senate are unfavorably disposed toward the neutralization of any part of Austria, as it is regarded as undesirable and embarrassing to the country's status as a member of the League of Nations.

National independence neutrality presents many problems to the Supreme Council as her status would be uncertain, should she be annexed.

The Supreme Council will consider the neutrality of Austria, and the neutrality presents many problems to the Supreme Council as her status would be uncertain, should she be annexed.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Are Modern Dances Vulgar?
HOLLYWOOD, March 10.—(To the Editor of The Times.) In a letter to The Times a university student deplores the action of the university authorities in putting their veto against a recently advertised dance. There is the inevitable reference to the sordid practices of our Puritanical ancestors, but the really inevitable charge that narrow-mindedness is rampant.

There was a time when dancing was a graceful diversion. The square dances were then in vogue, but today they have been relegated to the discard and fantastic "bunny hug," "dumb waiter" and "jazz" are the prime favorites of the Terpsichorean realm.

The simple truth of the matter is that there is a growing popularity of dancing, except among little children and old settlers. When one sees a démodé and seemingly well-bred girl glibly out on the popular floor, the clear expression of a man to whom she was but a moment before introduced, one isn't greatly perturbed; but when a man dressed in a tattered midnight with the same partner, her bare arms encircling his neck and his strong right arm holding her waist, then one need not be a dancing master to know that he would hold a drowning person long, believe me. The high-priced girls, however, are the ones who are most resuscitated as if by magic.

The students have the solution of the problem of the awful cost of living in their own hands, but they either have no money or else they are too insolent to assert it. What matter if for a brief period we all went without a few things? We are not dead yet.

They have broken at several levels headed business men on this subject, and, without exception, they have come to the conclusion that they must unite in union, the buyers in a community possess the power to control prices absolutely. Of course, it is reasonable that prices should be fixed by persons having knowledge of actual first costs and that allowances be made for a reasonable profit.

Students, however, would tend to stabilize conditions.

Need of League of Nations.

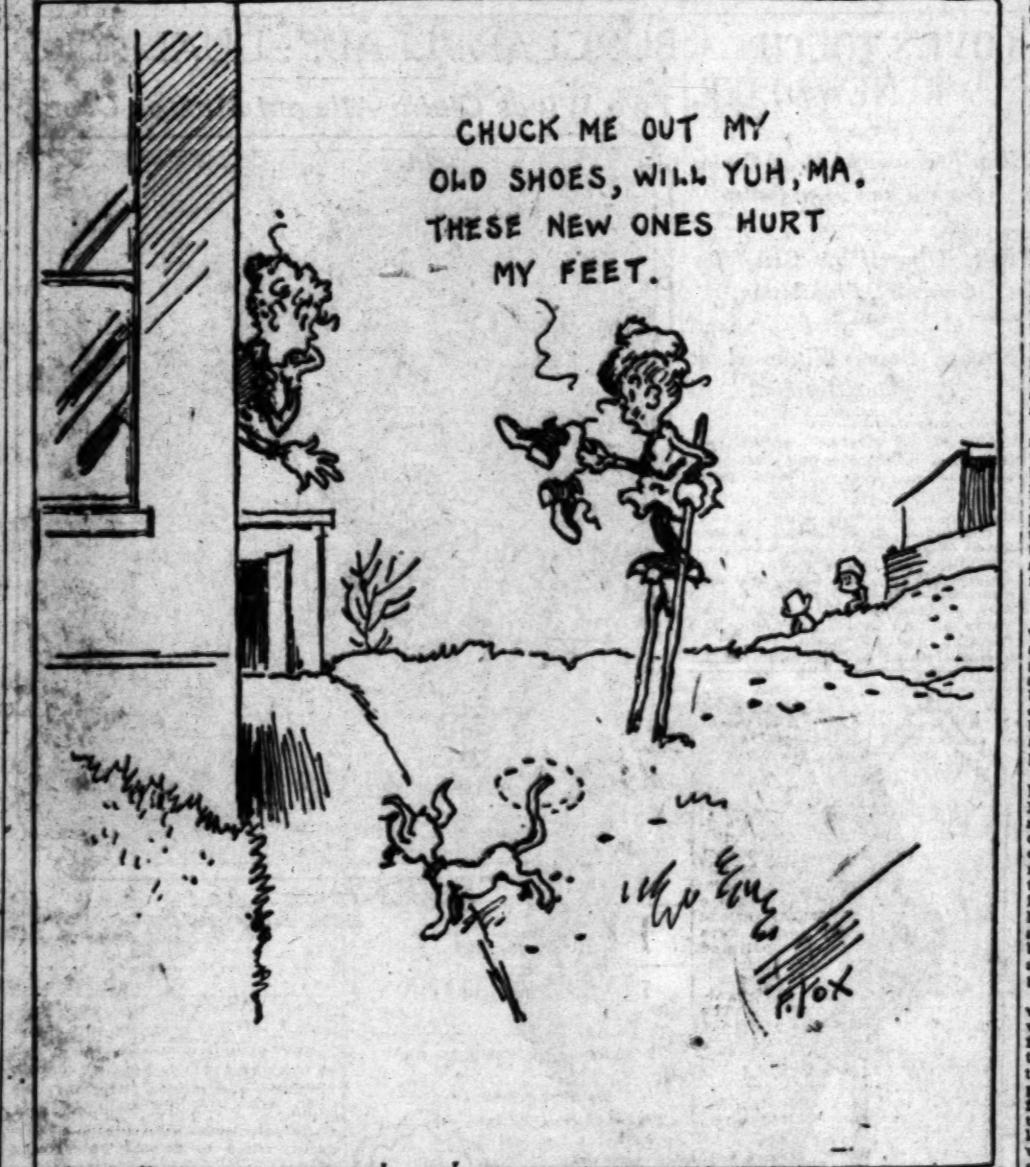

LOS ANGELES, March 8.—(To the Editor of The Times.) Peace and order can only be restored in devastated Europe by the operation of a dominant association of nations in this great crisis, as was demonstrated in the war, divided efforts, though great, can not accomplish permanence of peace. The order thus established will depend directly upon the character, aims and powers of the association that procures it. Without international justice there can be no permanent peace. America's will for justice and right has been the driving agent that has awakened the consciousness of the world throughout the civilized world and is the directing influence that has assembled and incorporated this that will dominate the conference and re-enact the crimes of the axis. They how now, and we are awaiting the day when the Senate will defeat the will of the people by failure to ratify the League of Nations treaty. Without the League of Nations, the world will remain as a soulless shell, less potent for good than for evil, powerless to prevent the destruction of democracies and potential democracies, now in the throes of birth, and the perversion to autocracy, anarchy or both.

Clearly the future existence and advancement of civilization depend upon the exercise of power and the right and justice. Let those senators who are actuated by personal and political animosities and ambitions, destroy this power and overturn the will of the people. To my inquiry for the reason she replied with cheerful candor: "The son and mother needs the money."

Dealers are intoxicated with the high prices war conditions enabled them to obtain. The high prices of classes of industrial workers in regard to their preposterous wages, they are not disposed to relinquish

FEMALE HELP.

Dorothy Dix and Mrs. Ynez W. Ranshaw have been tiltitg at one another in The Times in regard to middle-aged women's chances of finding employment when they need it. One says: "The woman past 40 need not despair. There is a fitting place for her somewhere in industry if she has adequate intelligence and energy."

A kind Providence restored the actress and her husband after five months of it. I was thankful indeed to exchange factory work for the duties of home, which I find the most pleasant of all. The wife of a millionaire may be a winner. Conditions brought about by the war led me to believe that it would not be difficult to step right into a good position. But I have since found myself held by my former employer and relinquished to assume the management of a home.

True, I have become somewhat rusted during the lapse of time and the frequent contact with washboard and dishpan had seriously affected the suppleness of my fingers. I have, however, learned to patch farns much on my way to optimism, and, oiling my typewriter, I am prepared to get back my old-time efficiency.

A friend advised me of a possible vacancy. The secretary to the manager of a large hotel here is going north. A lucrative position awaited her there, the present one being so easy she could not consider it. I applied for the position and both the salary and services required seemed tempting, therefore I applied for the place.

After a very best appraisal had been pronounced for the occasion, I felt decidedly out of place amid such elegant surroundings and wondered whether I might not be better off getting a small place in a round hole. The manager soon assented to it. There was no chance. He informed me that the young lady had decided to go to New York. On giving me no doubt caused him to double his salary. No blame can be attached to him for preferring a permanent position.

A perusal of the female-help-wanted column fails to disclose that women of mature years are desired for office work. On the contrary, "young" is specifically mentioned, while "attractive" is frequently prefaced. One advertiser with more tact than others, however, anticipated that the stenographer must be "a looker and dresser — no chrome wanted." Another stated: "No grandmothers need apply."

There are many offices where middle-aged women are employed and where their efficiency is appreciated. There are also opportunities for nursing. Having been there for years I have no fear of being supplanted by more modern maid-servants. In the case of the typist fixtures were out and new ones are to be installed. It is quite certain the second-hand store or junk pile does not supply them.

After a few further unsuccessful attempts I gave up the idea of securing a position and proceeded to look for a typist job. I obtained a non-residential position in a nearby factory. It was in the height of the rush season and high school girls and grandmothers were hired with equal alacrity.

The work required of me was certainly no strain on the intellect, although it took some energy to stand upright all day and do out-of-door piece work as fast as fingers could move. The pretty Spanish girl being. On the third floor there seemed to be in session a sort of combined tea party. I sat at fires and nickel dances and afternoon teas I have never seen such a riot. I baited my eyes.

And then a great big man-warrior came along and sat down at the table. A man at the head, with a white ribbon pinned to his coat, asked what she wanted. She held out a printed piece of information and said it was to have him understand this.

"Well, I paid out $40 on this income tax last year, and I don't see why I can't count it in my expenses."

She had him. And he knew it, and she knew he knew it.

HAVING THE DOUGH.

Resources of our national banks exceed twenty billion dollars. Eight years ago they were a little less than half that sum. This is where a large slice of the Liberty Loan gets counted, both coming and going.

GREEN GOODS.

Even in sunny California the price of green goods is 300 to 400 per cent. higher than is usual at this time or is warranted by conditions. The world was crying "Let us have peace." The Japanese gardeners heard it, but didn't exactly comprehend, and so they boosted the price of lettuce and peas out of sight. They all do it.

SHIPS AT SEA.

The suggestion is made that the vessels of the German war fleet be anchored at different parts of the Atlantic to serve as bases, and also as bases for aviation platforms on which transoceanic birdmen could make their landings for food and supplies. Doubtless this is impractical and incoherent, but it is at least interesting and sounds better than the idea of sinking the ships outright or of merely dividing them as a part of the spoils of war.

BOXING AGAIN.

One of the important reactions from the war will be a great revival of outdoor sports, especially of boxing.

An indication of this is the appointment of Gen. Leonard Wood as head of the Army, Navy and Civilian Boxing Commission in New York. It is

There never has been a genuine valid objection to boxing—as boxing. It is a clean, vigorous exercise that develops a lot of qualities in boys that they are liable to need.

The reason why boxing was stopped was that crooks found in it an opportunity for easy graft. The professional fighters were usually young and ignorant boys who fell easy victims to the wily slickers who promoted the fights.

Under high-minded men like Gen. Wood, the old sport will doubtless have a healthy revival.

THE STAFF OF DEATH.

By the terms of the peace treaty as thus far decided upon Germany's Imperial General Staff is to be completely abolished. The German army, if reduced to 100,000, is virtually a police force for the preservation of order. Its purpose is the main tenance of peace and not the making of war.

The business of the General Staff in war, and it does not function fully save in bloodletting. Therefore there is no further warrant for its existence. Had it not been for the German General Staff and high command the streams of Northern France would not have run red with the life current of so many gallant men. The Imperial staff and the high command were held in awe and reverence by all Germans. They might be clumsy and playful with their God, but not with the General Staff. Its voice and programme were obeyed without question or hesitation. Now, thanks to Marshal Foch and some hardy warriors—including a bunch of unscrupulous Americans—the grim and fearsome Imperial staff has not only had its stinger pulled, but has been sent to the scrap heap, body and breeches.

The demolition of the German General Staff means more for the permanent peace of Europe than possibly any other concrete agency of armed action. It was not a staff of life. It was the staff of death.

COURTS-MARTIAL.

The court-martial is an essential to military discipline, but sometimes it is good for a civilian to have a squint over some of its decisions. Here, for instance, was a court made up of young but important lieutenants who gravely ordered the death penalty upon a private who failed to obey the order of a superior officer in cleaning up some debris in the training camp. If he had fallen down in the face of the enemy or imperiled the lives of his comrades by desertion from duty in the field the death penalty would have been both righteous and just, but if they are going to shoot soldiers because they slumped on the business of kitchen police the army is going to be mighty unpopular.

To the average man accustomed to civilian jury service the judgment of many courts-martial seems severely out of proportion to the facts in the case. Soldiers who have overstayed their leave of absence and been made to appear as deserters have been given sentences of twenty or thirty years' imprisonment. Had they been impelled to the lieutenant's sweetheart or besieged his little mustache they would have to live two or three hundred years to satisfy the judgment of the court-martial.

In an army of Americans, where everybody is everybody's equal when in his nightshirt, it would seem that there might properly be some shade of difference in judgments between a court-martial in the field and one in the home training camp.

FAILURE OF OIL LAND LEGISLATION.

Despite the emergency facing the nation in its oil supplies, Congress adjourned without affording to the much-harassed operators of California, Wyoming and other States affected by the many withdrawal orders since 1918. The slightest relief before the final adjournment came Senator Pittman, who has conducted the four-year fight for justice, said that if legislation failed to pass before adjournment he saw little hope for the future. However, he has since stated that he received a try from next session, when he says that the new rules will be in effect prohibiting more than an hour's talk by any Senator and will prevent another filibuster like that of Le Poer which killed the bill last session.

The failure of all relief legislation has been largely due to the policy of the demagogic publicity on the part of its opponents.

Filling newspapers and magazines with their stories for years, with an ingenious appearance of frankness—a thing which has really been wholly lacking—the enemies of the oil producers have succeeded in poisoning the public mind against their cause, and the oil men have responded by sending to Washington lobbyists in buttonhole Congressmen and Senators and whisper their arguments in their ears. The very suggestion of using printer's ink on a large scale for their deserving cause has been scorned by leading oil interests and their advisers.

While their enemies have been telling the world that they were land looters, robbers and rogues of the first water, the oil men have strangely resorted to tactics that might have been expected of profiteers of the kind which their opponents would have the world believe them to be. Strange! If there is to be any hope of relief in the future there should be a change of tactics in this respect, if it is not already too late.

Meanwhile, the State, nation and world are clamoring for the oil which the national government forbids us to produce. The situation is grave, but Congress trifles with it and two leading executive departments stand in opposition to action. Possibly the retirement of Atty.-Gen. Gregory from the Cabinet may help a little, but that remains to be seen.

The situation is now just what it has been for the past five years, or since the government began its legal attack upon those who located lands withdrawn by an authority so doubtful that President Taft admitted that he seriously questioned it himself, and so doubtful that the United States Supreme Court only upheld it by a bare majority, after all the lower courts had upheld the locators. All the unpatented lands of the Midway-Sunset district (which would be, by far, the biggest producer) if allowed to develop are fenced by litigation and take care of pressing obligations. This money, he believes, would almost to a certainty have to come from United States capitalists and not from any government.

Dr. Bridge adds that capitalists could only be brought about by the use of capital. The government owes in interest alone approximately $110,000,000 and, he said, will need for a starter $200,000,000 United States money to build up railroads and industries and take care of pressing obligations.

Focus Your Sales Campaign In The Chicago Territory

Newspaper Advertising

Practical experience is more and more forcing advertisers to the conclusion that the most efficient form of advertising is that which utilizes newspapers.

Newspaper advertising towers above all other forms of advertising, not only because it is in service to those who buy it and to those who read it—constituting the greatest public market in each community for the exchange of services or commodities.

Newspaper advertising is the only truly national form of advertising, in that it appeals to all the people of the nation rather than to all the geographical abstractions.

Chicago Tribune Advertising

Advertising in The Chicago Tribune is the highest type of advertising in the world today—clean, honest, efficient, actually being three hundred and sixty-five days in the year what advertising should be—actually serving many hundreds of thousands of people every day as advertising should serve them.

Chicago Tribune advertising is more important than its volume would indicate—and it has surpassing volume. It is more important than Tribune circulation would indicate—and that circulation is overwhelming.

The Chicago Tribune, the world's greatest newspaper, is almost emphatically the world's greatest advertising medium for the reasons briefly summarized below.

Chicago Tribune Advertising Sways Millions—in Five Big Rich States

Wonderful Richness the Chicago Territory

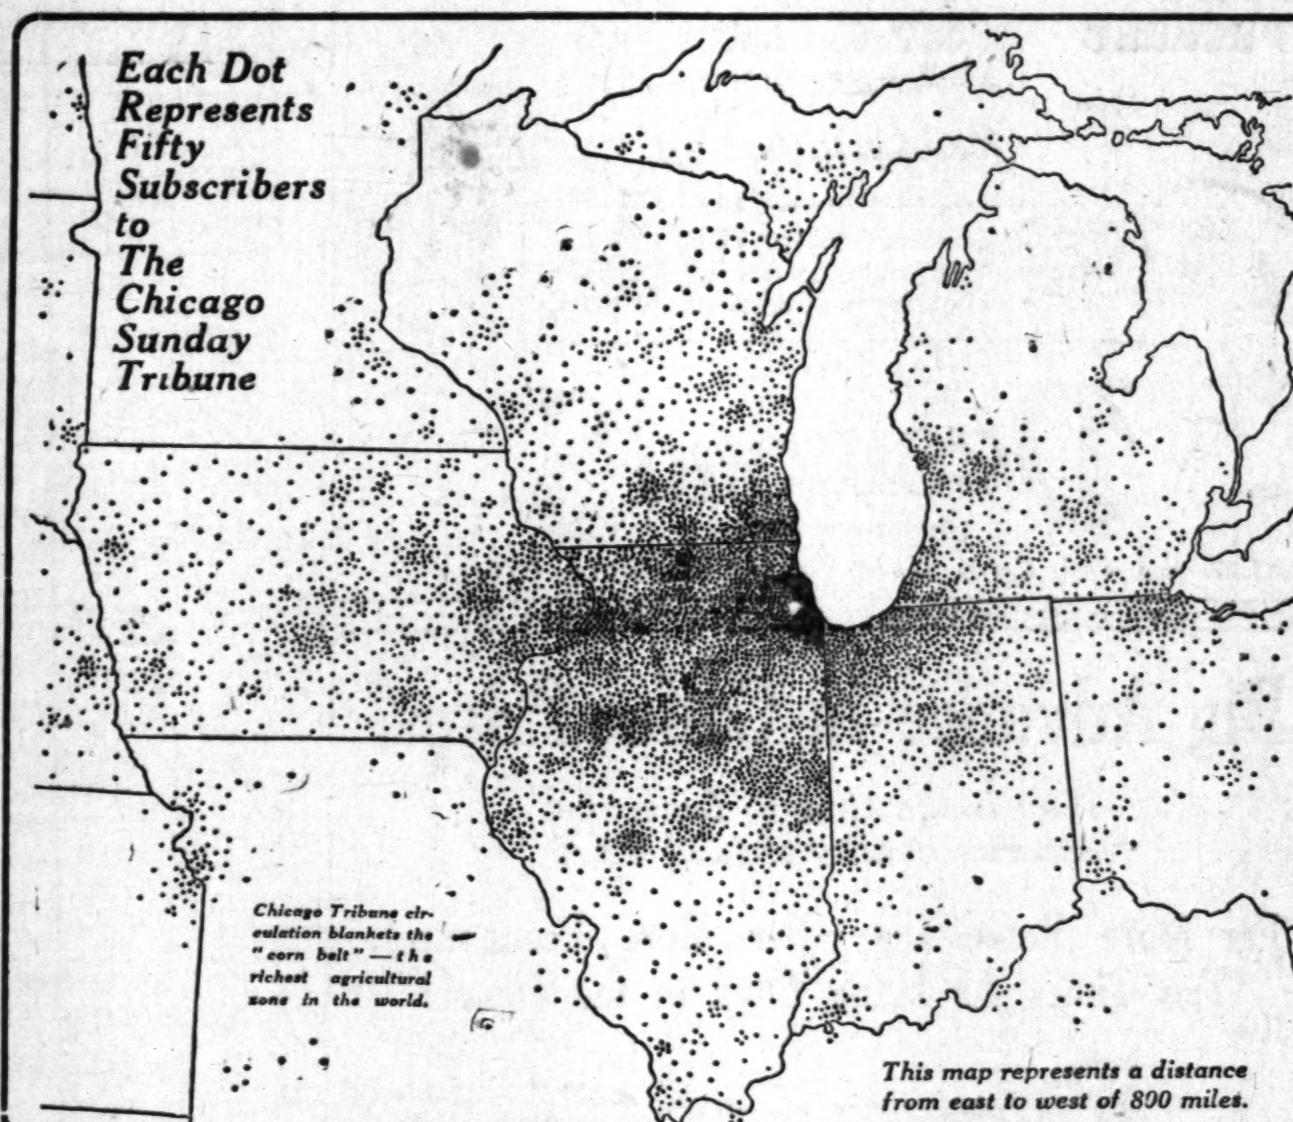

Advertising in The Chicago Tribune influences the purchases made by an unequalled aggregation of purchasing power—dominates a market of five great compact yet imperial—a market in which one-fifth of the population of the United States furnishes one-fifth of the subscribers to Liberty Bonds—a market which raises one-fifth of the crops of the nation, produces one-fifth of the manufactures and possesses one-fifth of the wealth.

Wide Circulation The Chicago Tribune the Chicago Territory

A magnificent market comprising these blue-ribbed commonwealths—Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin—The Chicago Tribune is read by one in five. The map on this page pictures in graphic form the remarkable distribution of The Chicago Tribune throughout the ever-prosperous corn belt. Only a national advertising or circulation man can appreciate the record of The Chicago Tribune in selling over 400,000 copies each of six week days, and over 700,000 copies each Sunday, at retail prices from 2c and 5c for the Daily to 7c and 10c for the Sunday paper—25,000 more circulation than the Chicago paper Daily and 100,000 more than the Chicago paper Sunday.

In five states of The Chicago Territory, Iowa is the most distant from Chicago, yet The Chicago Tribune has more readers in Iowa than the largest national newspaper. Furthermore, its prestige is out of proportion to the number of its readers. What people pay for advertising is some measure of their regard for it. The people of Iowa pay approximately $206,382 per annum for the largest national weekly and the largest woman's magazine and the largest farm journal, all three combined. On the other hand, they pay more than twice as much for The Chicago Tribune, of which $254,335 is for the Sunday issue and $190,364 is for the Daily. That is to say, they pay more to read one of the seven issues of The Chicago Tribune each week than to read three of the largest magazines.

Desirable Character of Chicago Tribune Readers

These statistics give some clue to the character of the people who buy The Chicago Tribune. The character of the news, editorials, and features in The Chicago Tribune indicates a clientele of the best people in every community it reaches. The tremendous volume of clean, high-grade advertising proves conclusively that Tribune readers constitute the world's greatest market.

Just as a magnet passing over a sand pile draws out the particles of iron, so The Chicago Tribune has established communications with more than 700,000 families which are the most desirable in its vast territory—most in accord with all the sturdy, progressive Americanism for which The Chicago Tribune stands. They are not all rich. Their numbers are so great that they necessarily represent mass circulation, but they are the best of each stratum—the best mechanics—the best manufacturers—the best clerks—the best merchants—the best housewives.

Responsiveness of Chicago Tribune Readers

It is common for readers of a publication to become accustomed to particular features. They "get the habit" of reading the Line-o'-Type or following Briggs' cartoons, watching the Financial Page or the Fashion Notes. By many years of intelligent, intensive work, The Chicago Tribune has educated its readers in its advertising until by thousands, by tens of thousands, by scores of thousands, and now by hundreds of thousands, they have "the habit" of reading and responding to Tribune advertising. They have been taught that Tribune advertising is clean, convinced that it is worth money to them, sold on its value, until many of them buy the paper because of its large volume of exclusive advertising. They consciously use Tribune advertising as a guide in their daily purchases.

During 1918 2,994,805 replies to want ads with box number addresses were mailed or brought to The Chicago Tribune. It is estimated that in addition three times this number were telephoned or mailed to the advertiser or answered in person. Therefore, the total response which Chicago Tribune readers made to Tribune want ads alone must have approximated twelve million replies.

Chicago Tribune Merchandising Theories and Practice

Some years ago The Chicago Tribune formulated this theory:

The Tribune considers it a waste of money to advertise a product distributed through the retail and jobbing trade until that trade has been supplied with merchandise to take care of the consumer demand when created.

How radically this differed from the old method of using advertising to force distribution only one familiar with jobbing and retailing can appreciate. The story of how The Chicago Tribune spent fortunes in order to live up to its theory—the story of Chicago Tribune Merchandising service—is too big to tell even on another page like this. It is a story which has new chapters every day. If you are interested in the sale of any product to the general public, ask The Chicago Tribune to send a merchandising expert to give you the benefit of our wide experience.

Official Entries.

By WILLIAM HENRY.

Ralph de Palma in his Packard is the fastest automobile in the world. He will drive an exhibition lap around the big race Saturday. This Sunday he will be racing in a speed trial. A program will be provided by the Committee from Chairman of the A.A.A. contest and a speed trial. De Palma, who has more than 100 hours of driving time, is hurried from one to another, which does not fit in with road racing rules. He is now credited with a lap in a car of approximately 100 miles per hour.

The race will close at 12:30. The start will be at 12:30 and the finish promptly at 1 o'clock.

There will be three drivers on the track only those with high qualifications will be allowed to drive. The exception is De Palma, who was clattering away with great and noisy speed. The drivers elected to run the drivers' election to determine the best driver. The announcement of a speed trial was made on the morning of the race. It was announced that he had been racing for the last two days.

De Palma believes that in an exhibition lap he can circle the 7.8-mile course in close to four minutes.

LeCocq was the only one of half a dozen drivers who drove the track as he is not entered in the race and thus barred from the competition. De Palma, however, was among those present with his Packard Special. Roscoe Sarles, the prize package of 1919, will be among those present with his Hudson. The first time Eddie Puleo will probably show off with his speedy Hudson, and the gentleman with the $1000 watch will be showing off his clocking them in slightly less than nine seconds.

The official entry list was released last night and looks like this:

The following are the officials:

Technical Committee—G. F. Stefferson (chairman), W. T. Tettsell, Harry Hartman, W. E. Thompson.

Honorary Judges—Dustin Farnum, Frank Garbut, R. H. Dyer, H. S. Firestone, S. W. Smith, R. A. Haffner.

Scorers—Robert MacGranger, Bert Johnson, Fred Johnson, Bert House, Earl Wydell, Charles Peters.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
MAY GET HERZOG.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, March 11.—President Grant of the Boston National League Club met Charlie Herzog here today. Herzog has a contract with the Boston club, which calls for a salary of $10,000 for the season of 1919. It is said that waivers have been signed by all the major league clubs on Herzog, and it was rumored here today the second baseman might come to the New York Americans by the end of the month.

Grant and Herzog were in consultation for over an hour. After they separated both stated that they had arrived at no agreement regarding a proposed change in the contract.

The wind-up suffered in comparison with the fast work of the Papke-Wilson team. It took two 160-pounders together in Jack Downey and Cliff Jordan, who had fought in the same ring a week previous to the fight, to get the decision, but the referee thought otherwise.

In the middle of the third round Jack Doyle was not any too well impaled with Jordan's willingness to deal punishment to the boxer.

So he sent word to Jordan at the end of the round to drop the Oregon boot from his right hand, and let him know he would not be impaled again.

Jordan, however, refused to do so.

It looked as if Downey had piled up enough points in the first two rounds to give him the decision, but the referee thought otherwise.

It looked as if Downey had piled up enough points in the first two rounds to give him the decision, but the referee thought otherwise.

Downey was not any too well impaled with Jordan's willingness to deal punishment to the boxer.

So he sent word to Jordan at the end of the round to drop the Oregon boot from his right hand, and let him know he would not be impaled again.

Jordan, however, refused to do so.

REX OIL
Presents to the local public an opportunity to invest in oil stocks of successful speculative chances that are offered in the famous business. These stocks are now being sold at the time a monthly dividend return of 10% is being paid from the Company's royalty production in the Butter Creek oil fields. REX is the only Company interested in the Texas field that has a large amount of oil in storage. We are offering new oil at 10% per share. This is a great opportunity for speculative chances, no doubt acceptable for the common investor. Present necessities should, in our opinion, force prices to higher levels.

BRITON'S ESTATE IS DISTRIBUTED.

Property of Officer Killed in France Goes to Widow.

Sixty Thousand Dollars Here; Million in Scotland.

Maj. Crichton's Heroic Death Recalled in Court.

The Los Angeles estate of Maj. Charles Julian Maitland Makgill Crichton of the British army, who was killed in France on September 15, 1915, was ordered distributed to the widow, Mrs. Sybill Twynhorne Eric Makgill Crichton, as trustee, for herself and three minor children by Judge Rivers of the probate court yesterday. The petition was represented by Attorneys Hahn and Hahn.

The bulk of the estate lies in Fifeshire and Perth, Scotland, and is estimated to be worth $1,000,000. The will was probated nearly three years ago.

Maj. Crichton was a well-known golf and polo player, a member of the Altadena Country Club of this county, and a stockholder in the Franklinwood Ranch in Santa Barbara county. His holdings in Los Angeles county were valued at $59,216.

He died a heroic death. When his companion was surrounded by the Germans, Maj. Crichton from a distance saw their officerless condition, and accompanied them on an orderly, and to take charge of his orderly. The orderly beat off the Hun. On the way he was shot and wounded. The orderly dismounted and started with the unconscious man to the officer. The orderly was shot but clung to Maj. Crichton. The orderly stumbled and fell, and his bullet hit Maj. Crichton.

A German officer found the dead bodies of the two and securing Maj. Crichton's valuables and finding his name and address in Scotland, he wrote to police here to ascertain who he had had his husband buried. This was the only evidence of his death, for the remains were never found by the English army. His burial place is also unknown.

SECRET DEALS FOUND IMPROPER BY COURT.

ACCOUNTING AND DISSOLUTION OF SEED COMPANY PARTNERSHIP ORDERED.

A story of prosperity which apparently turned the head of one of the partners—a deal on the side without the knowledge of one partner and a suit between the associates for an accounting and dissolution of the partnership was told in the trial of the house of Gallagher & Briggs, known as the California Seed Company, Inc., and decided in favor of Mr. Gallagher by Judge Valentine yesterday.

The trial consumed eight days. A story was told of J. J. Gallagher and W. Russell Briggs starting in the seed business with a $100 investment. The partners organized the California Seed Company, and the war coming on and raising the price of seeds did a business of $120,000 a year.

They regarded the concern as a partnership and not as a corporation. Mr. Briggs, it was shown, took on the side and retained the secret profits. These profits aggregated more than $4,000. Mr. Gallagher had no knowledge of the secret profits or participation in the profits. It was shown.

Judge Valentine held that the allegations in Mr. Gallagher's complaint were true, that there had been secret profits, and that Mr. Briggs had betrayed his partner's confidence by making side deals without the knowledge of his partner.

The court held that the suit had been committed either by Mr. Briggs or the party with whom he had a secret deal, and that he was accounting for the sale of the stock of the California Seed Company held by the partners, which includes all but 199 shares of the stock of the corporation.

The directors selected are E. P. Clark, M. H. Whittier, Watt L. Moreland, H. E. Woodill, H. W. O'Malley, Vernon Goodwin, R. G. Carroll, Harold L. Gold, S. C. S. Gray, Col. Bray, J. S. Mayo, Harry M. Haldeman, J. M. Schneider, Charles H. Toll, W. A. Faris, William M. Garland, Stanley B. Wilson, W. J. Hollingsworth and A. C. Deenan.
